Story (cont.)

Collectibles, food, and any other items that held any importance to each individual. Before we could even finish, the house had over five feet of water. We went to the front and back door and there was the Gulf of Mexico surrounding our home, friends home, the elementary school, etc. We were trying to decide whether to swim or go into the attic. We chose the attic. My husband kicked out the side just in case we had no choice but to swim for it. As we were looking out of the attic, I managed to find a camera. We took some amazing pictures of our neighborhood. It's one of those scenes, where you have to see it to believe it. We were very fortunate and made it out with our lives. No one lost their life on my street. We may have lost everything but together we will rebuild.

Xmas

Mommy & Daddy want a Terra Trailer (before) for Christmas, money to finish the house and lots of prayers to finish the house.

Thank you Santa for not forgeting us. My kids were happy to hear from you this yeare.
